One Million ModuT Disc Brakes from Haldex

The fast growing product line of ModuT air disc brakes from Haldex has now been produced in one million units. ModuT was first being produced in 2011 and has grown to become one of the leading air disc brakes on the market in Europe. Three weeks ago the ModuT was introduced in USA and has been well received by customers and media.

“ModuT has turned into the fastest growing product for Haldex,” said Bo Annvik, President & CEO for Haldex. “The success for ModuT is based on close collaboration with customers to develop a product that offers low weight, high efficiency and lower total cost of ownership.”

ModuT is produced in the Landskrona facility in Sweden where a small celebration was conducted to mark the 1,000,000th unit.

About ModuT

Weighing in at a mere 31 kg – including the brake pads – it is the lightest 22.5" trailer brake on the market. That is achieved with a compact, modular design. In addition to its size, ModuT provides several distinct advantages including simplified maintenance that reduces downtime and with a high braking efficiency.

The ModuT family includes the 19.5" and 22.5-inch optimized trailer brake. It will soon be followed with 17.5-inch, 19.5-inch and 22.5-inch air disc brake sizes for trucks and buses.
