PRESS RELEASE

Landskrona, Sweden, 2 June 2020

Haldex publishes Annual and Sustainability Report 2019

The report describes Haldex operations and outcome 2019. In this year's work on the Annual Report we have enhanced the description of offer, markets, technology development and sustainability work. The report also highlights our strategic focus areas set out to reach the goal of an adjusted operating margin of 10 percent by the end of 2022.

A strong financial position and better profitability are key enablers in driving our technology development and capturing exciting opportunities within the present technology shift, especially in emerging markets such as Asia.

"In the next few years, the automotive industry will experience enormous changes and previous positions are no longer given. Haldex new technology is well positioned for the future and by being quick, innovative and determined we should be at the forefront and take a leading position in the niches we operate within. I look forward to leading the work on unleashing our great potential both in the short and long term.", says Helene Svahn, President and CEO of the Haldex Group.
